ACTIONS SPEAK LOUDER THAN WORDS.

Jesus was speaking to the Israelites especially to the religious authorities. They were the first to receive the word of God through the prophets. They claimed to believe in the one and only God but their faith was mostly expressed with their lips yet their action did not align with their words. They were just like the second son in the Gospel reading. On the other hand, the so-called sinners, the prostitutes and the tax collectors, who became followers of John the Baptist and Jesus Christ, listened and repented and therefore, they had the passport to enter the Kingdom of God.

They were the first son who initially said no but eventually obeyed his father. In Matthew 15:8, Jesus quotes Isaiah 29:13 saying "These people honor me with their lips, but their hearts are far from me." Also in Matthew 7:21-23, He specifically warns that "Not everyone who says to Me, Lord, Lord!" will enter the kingdom of heaven, but only the one who does the will of My Father in heaven." It is therefore imperative that we show our faith in God by having a heart full of compassion that eventually comes out in our actions and behavior. One thinks of those people who show off when it comes to religion. Playing to the gallery and merely calling out 'Lord Lord! 'will not carry much weight in God's eyes. Jesus teaches that true religion is rooted in doing and words are only lovely when they tally with what we do. Good actions are the clothes that faith wears.

Self-righteousness is a big hindrance to the door of eternal life. We often look down on other people with the thought that we are holier than them. Let us focus therefore on our own unworthiness and thank God for sending His only Son to redeem us. More importantly, let our words be translated into action. Better yet, let our action of loving others speak for itself. Fr Jose

LAUDATO SI- ON THE CARE OF OUR COMMON HOME. The Third chapter in Laudato Si, "The Human Roots of the Ecological Crisis", examines and explores the social trends and ideologies that have caused environmental problems. It criticizes the dominant technocratic paradigm that views nature as a mere object to be manipulated and controlled by human technology. It also challenges the modern anthropocentrism that sees humans as separate from and superior to the environment, and ignores the spiritual and transcendental value of nature. It calls for a new ecological awareness and a social conscience. This chapter is very important to understanding Pope Francis' overall account of the environmental challenges we as human family face in our common home. Pope Francis expresses his deep concern that humankind is lapsing into a collective relativism, a system of loosely held ideas where there are no real boundaries to human actions. Let's find a new synthesis which will put human beings in the correct relationship with creation. Fr Jose

POPES NEW LETTER TO BE TITLED LAUDATE DEUM: Pope Francis' new letter on the environment will be titled Laudate Deum (Praise God), a frequent refrain in several psalms, including Psalm 148, which tells the heavens, angels, sun and the moon to praise the Lord. The new document, to be released on October 4, is what the Pope has described as a follow-up to his 2015 encyclical Laudato

Si', On Care for Our Common Home. The new document, he said, is "a look at what has happened" since 2015 and a look at what still "needs to be done". For the full story, go to: <https://www.oursundayvisitor.com/pope-says-his-new-ecology-document-is-titled-laudate-deum/> WORLD HABITAT DAY 2 October. In 1985 the United Nations designated the first Monday of October every year as World Habitat Day. The idea is to reflect on the state of our towns and cities and the basic right of all to adequate shelter. It is also intended to remind the world of its collective responsibility for the future of the human habitat. On 2 October 2023, the Global Observance of World Habitat Day, under the theme "Resilient urban economies. Cities as drivers of growth and recovery", will look at how cities can position their economies to benefit residents.

ST FRANCIS OF ASSISI FEAST DAY 4 October

"Make me a channel of your peace
where there is hatred let me bring your love
Where there is injury, your pardon Lord
And where there is doubt true faith in You.
Make me a channel of your peace
Where there's despair in life let me bring hope
Where there is darkness only light
And where there's sadness ever joy."
Songwriters: Jon Cohen / Traditional

This is the first and the last verses of the St Francis of Assisi' well known hymn. They help us to understand the ambiguity of life, yet at the same time in our world today we need to be people of peace and faith. The other beautiful word in this hymn is doubt. Doubt is a constant feeling for all, yet none the less shows us we are human. We are called to rise above doubt by faith in God and faith in the goodness of humanity. And the final word in the hymn is joy. May we also look to the horizon of hope for joy in our lives. Fr Marty

LITURGY NOTES: THE EUCHARISTIC PRAYER

Central to the Liturgy of the Eucharist at Mass is the Eucharistic Prayer. The priest offers this prayer on our behalf and we participate through the opening dialogue and the three acclamations, and by joining our personal praise and sacrifice to that of the Church. The following elements are included in all thirteen Eucharistic Prayers in the Missal, though the order varies:

- Thanksgiving - especially in the Preface which gives thanks for the whole work of salvation or for some special aspect of it;
- Acclamation - the "Holy, holy" sung by the people and presider after the Preface. Here we join the singing of the angels and saints before God's throne;
- Invocation - or epiclesis, the calling down of the Holy Spirit on the gifts of bread and wine;
- Institution narrative - the retelling of the scriptural account of Christ's words and actions at the Last Supper;
- Memorial prayer - or anamnesis ('lest we forget') which recalls the paschal mystery;
- Offering - the entire Church and this assembly offer Christ and themselves to God in union with Christ;
- Second invocation of the Spirit - this time on those gathered that they may become "one body, one spirit in Christ";
- Intercessions for the Church and the world, for the living and the dead;
- Final doxology - ("through him, with him,"), the prayer of praise in which the celebrant sums up and concludes the thanksgiving offered to God.

Apostles Creed

I believe in God, the Father almighty, creator of heaven and earth, and in Jesus Christ, his only Son, our Lord, who was conceived by the Holy Spirit, (all bow)
born of the Virgin Mary, suffered under Pontius Pilate, was crucified, died and was buried; he descended into hell; on the third day he rose again from the dead; he ascended into heaven, and is seated at the right hand of God the Father almighty; from there he will come to judge the living and the dead.
I believe in the Holy Spirit, the holy catholic church, the communion of saints, the forgiveness of sins, the resurrection of the body, and life everlasting. Amen.
